Wilson and War Experts Oppose Sending Troops to Europe, Despite French Clamor.

Practical WOULD TRAIN NEW ARMY FOR THE WORK ABROAD.

Government May Compromise by Ordering Airmen to the West Front.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 26.—The problem, shall American troops be sent abroad, and when, is puzzling and plaguing President Wilson and his official advisers. It is a problem which has been made more acute by the arrival today of the French mission, all the members of which are united in the belief that nothing could be more inspiring to the soldiers of the Entente and efficacious in ending the war than a glimpse of the Stars and Stripes on the battle fronts of France.

President Wilson, while carefully refraining from any sign to indicate his intentions, is generally understood by the circles closest to him to be "utterly opposed" to the dispatch of any troops from the country at this time. In this opinion he is unanimously upheld by his expert advisers in the War Department, who believe that the big army completely trained before any trained soldiers go to war.

But the opinion in the War Department is probably technical and is based mainly on grounds of economy. The real reason for sending American troops to Europe now is largely sentimental.

The war party in the Cabinet well appreciate the effect upon the country of such a move, even by Americans in action. The French appreciate even more deeply than do the members of the British commission the importance of the Entente as an American expeditionary force.

ARMEN AS COMPROMISE.

The problem may be solved for the present at least by a decision to send both to the eastern and western fronts as many airmen as can be quickly trained. An Air Cabinet member is urging this plan as best calculated to meet the demand for the American flag over the trenches. He has obtained the support of the army air service, the

MONGOLIA SHOT ANOTHER "HEARD AROUND WORLD."

Captain of the Liner, in Describing Encounter, Pays Highest Tribute to Skill and Courage of Gun Crews, Commanded by Lieut. Bruce Ware, Who Left Nothing to Guesswork—Crew Howls with Delight at Hit.

(BY ARTHUR S. DRAPER.)

LONDON, April 25.—How the first shell fired by an American gun in the present war instantly sank a German submarine is a story that future books of history may well recall.

It happened at 8:34 a.m., April 19—the one hundred and forty-second anniversary of the Battle of Lexington. It has become another "shot heard 'round the world."

The American steamship Mongolia was approaching the southeastern coast of England. It was a hazy morning. Capt. Rice, who had not taken off his clothes for five days, had just stepped out of the chart room with Gun Lieutenant Bruce Ware.

This is the way Capt. Rice tells of what followed:

"We suddenly heard an exclamation from the chief officer, 'there's a submarine on the port bow!' Immediately, I swung the helm right around and bore down upon her starboard. This seemed our only chance of not being hit amidships. I thought the torpedo might pass alongside."

"We were going full speed ahead and in the two minutes before she emerged we had put her 1000 yards away. The stern gun was trained full on her and almost instant she reappeared. Lieut. Bruce gave the range order and then—"

"MANEUVERING FOR SHOT.

"Only about three feet of the periscope showed, but I realized it instinctively that I had only to fire to right and left to get within 600 feet of target exposed. Automatically, I swung the helm right around and bore down upon her starboard. This seemed our only chance of not being hit amidships. I thought the torpedo might pass alongside."

"The realized my intention instantly. She dove and also swung around, wherever she went our tactic was to swing right and left, so as to bring her into a better position for torpedoing. I don't say. At any rate, we followed her around, watching the swirling wake caused by her motion as the periscope disappeared.

"She came up, expecting to be able to attack us on the port side. But we were going full speed ahead and in the two minutes before she emerged we had put her 1000 yards away. The stern gun was trained full on her and almost instant she reappeared. Lieut. Bruce gave the range order and then—"

"WATCHING THE SIX-INCH SHELL through the air, we saw it land close to the front of the periscope. Shell and submarine disappeared. There was an explosion, of course, and for some minutes the surrounding area was covered with smoke. We did not fire again.

TELE-TALES OIL.

"Naturally, there isn't any actual legal proof that we hit the U-boat, as we didn't recover any wreckage or bodies, but there was the tell-tale oil on the water. I believe we either hit the periscope directly or hit the hull almost at the water level."

"I can't praise highly enough the cool, easy way Lieut. Ware handled his gun crews. It was about the best exhibition of efficiency I have ever seen. He was calm, collected, about the shot—just a case of applied mathematics. Lieut. Ware knew before the shell struck that it would reach home, for he had computed the angle, which we were traversing, and our direction with the speed and direction of the submarine. In the two minutes that elapsed from the moment we first saw the enemy the lieutenant had hit that gun trained to an inch."

"Our crew just howled with delight at what they had done."

British Object.

Respect is evidently even more full of sorrow and tragedy than our own, because we had not a great army, we had but a small army when war broke out, whereas the French army was of the great continental type, was on a war footing, and was from the very inception of military operations, engaged in sanguinary conflict with the common enemy.

THE FRENCH COMMISSION.

"We have today among us a commission from France. No doubt, indeed, I am fully convinced that they will receive a welcome not less warm, not less heartfelt than that which you have so generously and encouragingly extended to us. That was and certainly will be increased by the reflection that one member of the mission, Marshal Joffre, will go down through all lines as the general in command of the Allied forces at one of the most critical moments in the world's history.

"Government officials say they hope for more speed and fighting efficiency from manufacturers of airplanes here now that we are at war. The experts themselves are of one mind, and the progress is extremely troublesome, but progress is being made. American inventors have rallied to the call.

"American power, for the Americans, quick solution of which is demanded by the government in calls going to great inventors and electrical experts everywhere, is to invent and produce torpedoes, etc. Progress is reported, too. Various devices are being worked out along the line of electrically defecting the course of the torpedo, stopping the explosion before it reaches the targets.

TO MULTIPLY TONNAGE.

"While the shipping board is straining every nerve to multiply tonnage so rapidly that the Germans are weary, we are working out patrols and the armed merchantmen are taking pot shots at the subs when they can. It is still realized that the war under way is of the most deadly nature. Destruction of ships, although no definite statement may be made, is believed to be increasing.

"Government officials say they hope for more speed and fighting efficiency from manufacturers of airplanes here now that we are at war. The experts themselves are of one mind, and the progress is extremely troublesome, but progress is being made. American inventors have rallied to the call.

POLICY OF COMMISSION.

"Gentlemen, I do not believe that the magnitude of that assistance can by any possibility be exaggerated. I am told that there are some doubts in the German camp to think that the object of the mission of France and Great Britain is in itself very doubtful.

"The British have driven the Turks from the west bank of the Shatt-el-Ahmar to about seventeen miles of its junction with the Tigris River. Major General total on Saturday and Sunday in the vicinity of Isatabilat were 687 prisoners and fifteen guns.

TURKS ADMIT RETREAT.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.) LONDON, April 25 (via London, 5:02 p.m.)—Russian artillery has been notably active at isolated points along the eastern front, the remnant of talk of annexing Poland has vanished. While the proclamation of the Central Powers is felt to have been premature, the combination being discussed in German political circles all have one feature in common—an earnest attempt to frame up a bargain in peace for Russia, involving no actual annexation, but at most certain mutual annexations or compensatory trade.

RUSSIAN GUNS ACTIVE.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.) BRITISH DRIVE TURKS BACK.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.) LONDON, April 25, 7:35 p.m.—An official statement received from Gen. Maude, commanding the British forces in Mesopotamia, says the British have driven the Turks from the west bank of the Shatt-el-Ahmar to about seventeen miles of its junction with the Tigris River. Major General total on Saturday and Sunday in the vicinity of Isatabilat were 687 prisoners and fifteen guns.

WISCONSIN SEIZES STORED POTATOES.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.) ASHLAND (Wis.), April 25.—Seize all potatoes being held in warehouses in carriage lots for higher prices. Do not interfere with potatoes which are shipped in for grocers or consumers. Seize only those being held in railroad lots by warehousemen to hold them for the State for seed potatoes.

NEGATIVE CONCESSIONS.

"These negative concessions to Russia must be expected to be more attractive to the Central Powers by the addition of the prospect of certain positive compensations for Russian peace and friendship.

An autonomous Armenia would mean the loss of a portion of territory at present, and an autonomous Polish state as an integral part of the new United States of Russia would not be looked upon with favor by most Germans, and especially the Poles.

And lastly, "Why not Rumania foot the war bill?" is a thought which appeals strongly to the Teutonic allies and which may well be expected to be brought to Russia's notice in some form.

A further grant of autonomy to the Slavs of the dual monarchy may be made as evidence of the good faith of the Central Powers' profession regarding the principle of nationality.

As a further positive inducement to Russia, one may expect the Central Powers to affect a demonstratively benevolent attitude toward advancing Russia's sphere of influence in Persia, gently calling Russia's attention to the attractive possibility of an outlet to the Persian Gulf if Russia will only give up for all time its hobby for getting hold of Constantinople and the Dardanelles.

THE DRAMA IN IRELAND.

"Two years and a half have gone since the first of the British fleet sailed on this side of the Atlantic to the aid of Ireland. We have been watching with deep interest the bloodstained drama going on across the ocean, and I am well convinced that as each month has passed, so has the consciousness grown among you that after all it is no small or petty interest that is involved in this war, it is no struggle for so many square miles of territory, no mere acquisition, some satisfaction of small personal ambition.

It was nothing short of the full consciousness that the liberties of mankind are really involved in the issue of this struggle that was the determining factor in our entry into the war.

"With such a cause the American public has always been in full sympathy and now, after watching it through all these months, you have the right and the impel to join in the great conflict. I feel perfectly certain that you will throw into it all your unequalled resources, all your powers of invention, of production, all your man power, all the resources of that country which has greater wealth and more power in the country in the world and already having come to that decision, nothing can stand in your way from but success crowning our joint efforts.

THE GUNS' NAMES.

"Our guns forward were named George Washington and Martha Washington and the art. which scored the hit, had been christened Bruce Rose.

"Just before we saw the submarine we had been taking soundings and found we were in shallow water. I think our propellers were hitting the bottom and that was why we didn't stay around when we didn't stay around to reconnoiter the spot. We steamed away at full speed, sending messages meanwhile that a submarine had been seen. I imagine there might have been another of those U-boats in that neighborhood."

Capt. Rice smiled reminiscing as he finished his story.

"Allow me to add," said Capt. Rice, "that Allerton, Mass., where I come from, the folks were celebrating the anniversary of the Battle of Lexington."

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)

BERLIN (via London) April 25, 10:42 p.m.—A supplementary official statement on the campaign on the western front, issued tonight reads:

"On the Aisne and Champagne fronts the situation is unchanged."

CONCORD (Cal.) April 25.—Fire which started here at 3 o'clock this morning totally destroyed the main business block, causing an estimated loss of $250,000.

Twenty or more guests and servants of the Concord Inn, which was totally destroyed, escaped from the burning building in their night clothes.

Business houses destroyed before the fire was reported under control at 7 o'clock included the Concord Dry Goods Company, the Neustadt Mercantile Company, the Bank of Concord and apartments above; Monchy hardware store and the post office.

The fire started in the basement of the Concord Mercantile Company and was followed by an explosion, presumably of powder. Reports indicate that no one was injured.

Make Your Home at Van Nuys

Are you tired of the city? Tired of moving? Tired of paying rent? Tired of paying taxes and upkeep on a place that brings you in nothing? Tired of paying out all your income to live with nothing coming back?

Are you tired of having nothing to do, or no inspiration for doing what you do?

Are you tired of having your money in the bank at 3%, or of having it invested in some absent proposition where you are not sure what will happen to it?

Do you want to be master of your own income?

Have your children growing up without broadening, inspiring, constructive occupation, spending too much of their time in dangerous idleness or uncertain or unprofitable ways?

Do you find that the years are going by and you are getting no nearer a permanent home and a place of shelter and safety for days that are coming?

Come to Van Nuys

Van Nuys offers you practically all the advantages of country and city combined and a solution to all of these problems.

Van Nuys is about 20 miles northwest of downtown Los Angeles—54 minutes by electric car, 40 minutes by auto—in the heart of the San Fernando Valley. It is as near the ocean as Los Angeles is, but is largely protected from cold, wet fogs by the intervening mountains. It is about 500 feet higher than Los Angeles. The climate is sunny and pleasant. The soil is a deep, sandy loam silt—very fine. It is sub-irrigated, has about the same rainfall as Los Angeles and has the Owens River Aqueduct water in steel mains in abundant supply at low cost.

It is the center of a system of splendid boulevards. The Pacific Electric runs through it from Los Angeles to the north and west sides of the valley.

It is close to the Los Angeles market. The market for eggs is taken care of entirely through the Van Nuys co-operative poultry association. The Van Nuys co-operative cannery takes care of most of the other produce.

It is the capital of the poultry industry of the South, and poultry here is a scientific and profitable business. The conditions are perfect for poultry and the association aids beginners.

Practically all kinds of vegetables, deciduous fruits and walnuts do well. Alfalfa does very well.

The schools are under the Los Angeles school system and have the finest buildings and equipment. The $120,000 High School has a large auditorium containing a $7500 pipe organ made in Van Nuys.

A good class of people live here. It is a modern, progressive community with splendid spirit.

There is a large, active woman's club with a fine new home of its own building. The social conditions are attractive.

There are few people who do not get enthusiastic about Van Nuys after being shown over the district by one of our competent guides.

Forward To the Land

We specialize on five-acre tracts and modern homes with restrictions. There is a reason for this. Such a place makes an ideal home. It gives one, who devotes his energies to it properly, a sufficient income, and gives one man plenty to take care of. If he had less he might not have enough work and income to satisfy his ambition and if he had more he would have to have help, which he may not be able to get to suit him, and perhaps does not want to be bothered with.

If one does not need and care for the income, it still makes a self-sustaining place, where, by hiring a man and wife to take care of the home and place, one may have a pleasant home that will earn its own cost out of the place while being supplied with the best of everything.

Good selections are available now. The time to buy land is when it can be had. Land grows scarcer, prices go higher; and when it is gone, it is gone. We cannot increase the supply or duplicate the location.

More of us have got to go forward to the land for our own and for the country's sake. Here is a way that we can do it and not lose any of the advantages of city life by doing so.

Call any day before 9 a.m. or before 1 p.m. and get transportation to Van Nuys, where we will take you in private machine to see the homes and successes others are making.

ECONOMY.
COST OF MEAT CAN BE LESS.

Government Points Out Ways to Reduce the Bills.

Cheaper Cuts, More Care in Use and Other Helps Given.

Recipes Outlined for Getting the Very Best Results.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE)

WASHINGTON (D. C.) April 21.

Meat is one of the more expensive items in the food bill of the ordinary family, and for this reason it is important that it be bought and prepared to the best possible advantage.

American consumers are reminded of this in a statement just issued by specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The methods by which economy may be affected will vary, it is pointed out, with the conditions surrounding each family, with the amount of personal shopping and careful selection may make a saving possible.

Still to the preparation of food there is a suggestion that meat be cut into smaller pieces.

Meat pies. Meat pies are made most satisfactorily by first cooking the meat and vegetables as for a stew. Line pie plates with biscuits, rolled fairly thin, put in the meat, vegetables and gravy, cover with dough, and bake in a hot oven.

Meat turnovers. Place any chopped meat over a layer of biscuits, roll out a biscuit dough about the size of a saucer. Fold the dough over the meat, crimp the edges, and bake in a hot oven. Vegetables may be combined with the meat filling as desired, and the whole may be served with gravy.

Liver or beef birds. Cut very thin meat into roughly rectangular pieces of a sufficient size for individual servings. Put on each piece a slice of bread crumb, seasoned with chopped onions and other flavoring vegetables and herbs. Fold or roll up the meat and skewer in place with toothpicks. Then roll in fat, raw meat and make gravy from the fat, flour and stock. If available, place the rolls in the gravy and cook slowly until tender in a covered baking dish, a steamer or a pressure cooker.

Stop Scramble.

HALT SHIPMENTS TO STOP PANIC IN MARKET.

Makers Approve Plan Suggested by Herbert C. Hoover and Take Steps to Overcome Rising Market Due in Part to Hoarding by Consumers.

AN ISLAND OF KING.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Hoarding of sugar by American consumers has led to suspension of export business to meet an abnormal demand for the staple, Earl D. Baker, president of the American Sugar Refining Company, said today in a statement approving the plan suggested by Herbert C. Hoover, national food commissioner, for cooperation between the United States and the Entente in handling food production.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the company, Baker said:

"We are planning a munitionization," Mr. Adams declared.

Mr. Adams, chairman of the Southern Pacific Commission, said the Southern Pacific has made a gift of 1000 acres of land to the Southern Pacific Railroad under the name of the Southern Pacific Reservation. The railroad has agreed to let the Southern Pacific have the land for its use.

GERMAN ARRESTS EXPECTED FOR POTASH FACTORY FIRES.

CONVENTION that the destruction by fire yesterday of the National Kelp and Potash Company and the blaze of the day before in the plant of the Lorred Manufacturing Company, two Long Beach firms, not only caused the fires but were the result of war for munitions of war, are traceable to German agents, other manufacturers of Long Beach last night retained the German Bureau of Investigation to ferret out those persons responsible. Although reticent in discussing the matter, P. W. Mohan, Los Angeles manager of the agency, admitted last night that his office has information that will probably cause the arrest of certain Germans.

As a result of the fire yesterday, extra guards were placed about the plant of the California Shipbuilding Company, last night. This morning, the company was unable to get out of the building.

The main bulk of the structure burned with such fury that it may be difficult to complete government contracts. The shipbuilding plant is located near the National Kelp and Potash Company works.

The first that guides this concern records what is the largest in the history of Long Beach. The loss was estimated at $25,000.

STATUTE EASY
ON BILLBOARDS

Proposed Ordinance Does not Exclude Eyesores.

Initial Draft is Filed with the City Council.

Owners of Crook Havens to Fight Even This.

The first draft of the proposed ordinance was complete yesterday afternoon by City Attorney and forwarded to the Public Welfare Committee of the City Council.

The regulations are far from being drastic to the extent of entirely excluding billboards from the city as demanded by the great majority of taxpayers.

The proposed ordinance provides for three classifications of billboard advertising.

The business district comprises all territory from the intersection of Figueroa and Washington streets west practically to the Los Angeles River, and from Sunset and Figueroa streets around to the intersection of Main Street, Broadway and Pasadena avenue, and then down to the river.

MUST BE MADE OF METAL.

In this district all billboards must be of metal construction, must not be placed within six feet of any building and must not be more than twenty-five feet in height. At the base the sign must stand about the ground line twelve to fifteen inches.

Residential districts may also be controlled where three or more consecutive blocks are dedicated to merchandising or manufacturing and where 90 per cent. of the property owners agree that billboards may be placed there.

Business districts include all territory within the present confines of the city in which the lots have been regularly laid out in subdivision blocks. Boards in such areas are not to contain more than one advertisement at a time. They are to be mounted by at least fifteen feet and are to be well off the ground so as to provide a dumping place for cigarette ends or a hiding place for criminals.

FAR FROM ANY RESIDENCE.

In the suburban districts no billboards shall be erected within 300 feet of a residence. No building in these districts, having less than five acres of vacant space, or ground dedicated to agriculture, shall be considered farming territory and residential restrictions are to apply.

The proposed ordinance provides for imprisonment for not more than six months or the payment of a fine not to exceed $500. Each day the offense continues the statute is violated.

It is expected the billboard owners will marshal their forces against this measure if it is brought up in the morning. Several of their leaders are on hand to procure copies of the proposed statute as they were taken from the printer.

The draft was submitted to legal counsel of the billboard men in order that nothing may be overlooked in the plan to eradicate the signs that are a nuisance to the community, providing refuge for hold-up men and other criminals as well as dumping grounds for all kinds of rubbish.

POWER AGREEMENT.

Until we have this additional information, Mr. Jones said, "no report can be furnished. We have authorized one to give out any information concerning our negotiations with the committee, because it would be impossible for us to say what plan has been reached and we have not yet reached a decision and we are subject to the call of the chair and a committee state when and call will be made."

There appears little likelihood that the committee will reach an agreement in time for a report to be made to the sub-committee of the Chamber of Commerce had reached a decision on the power contract.

Indeed, Mr. Jones, the chairman, stated positively last night that no agreement had been reached and no recommendation would be made until additional data had been obtained.

UNIONS USING HIM AS TOOL?

German is Arrested Under the War Provisions.

Man is Suspected of Causing Labor Troubles.

Draiser Fugitive from the Illinois Authorities.

State labor leaders and local organizations are exhibiting much agitation over the interest in the arrest early yesterday morning of Albert Moysie, a 25-year-old German, at Terre Haute, by Federal officers and deputy sheriffs. Moysie, an alien who boasts that he has never thought of taking out citizenship papers in this country, is now held in the County Jail under Section No. 13 of the declaration of war.

All day yesterday efforts were made to represent him by persons thought to be representatives of the labor-union leaders, but the prisoner was held "incommunicado," pending further investigation.

Arrest of the Federal authorities was drawn toward Moysie first when about forty steelworkers employed at the Llewellyn Iron Works struck a few days ago. The strike in this section was not among all of German extraction, or who professed sympathy for the Central Powers. In fact, Moysie, ringleader, it was, was Moysie's ringleader, was Moysie.

ACTIONS QUESTIONABLE.

Investigation had no sooner started, however, than Moysie disappeared from the city. Tuesday afternoon he was located working for a contractor at Terre Haute, and early Wednesday morning Federal officers accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Fox and Nolan, arrested him at the Moysie apartments there.

Although the case would not tell it is learned from an authentic source that the strike at the iron works is but one of the matters for which Moysie must answer. Arriving from Germany, Moysie, on a few days before the outbreak of the European war in 1914, Moysie's trail across the country has been traced, and since the entrance of the country into the war his actions have been questionable, it is said.

Conferences with labor leaders in this State, coupled with the remarkable combination of strikes, wanton strikes and mutinies of trouble among the employees working with him followed, has led the authorities to believe that the ever-answering and now ever-ready advantage of the trying period to advance their own ends. Starting developments are promised, as it has been ascertained that Moysie held a conference with a steelworker organizer but a few days before taking a job as steelworker with the Llewellyn Iron Works. He had been employed there but a few weeks ago, and the strike was not noticed because of his apparent attempt to ingratiate himself with fellow-workers and his spending of a far greater amount of money than his position as steelworker warranted.

WANTED IN ILLINOIS.

Word was received from Joliet, Ill., yesterday that Otto Carl Doerr, the German arrested some weeks ago at Hermosa Beach, when he had been a commercial combustibles to blow up the city, is none other than the convict who left the State while on parole from the penitentiary there. Doerr will be taken back to the State to stand trial for the crime he is accused of committing.

Doerr was arrested in Illinois when he noticed Doerr walking about the County Jail last Sunday.

Preparedness.

TO RAISE WAR FUND.

Y.M.C.A. Secretaries will Meet in Fresno Today to Complete Plans for California's Part in Saving Money for Work Among Soldiers.

A campaign to raise $2,000,000 with which to meet the expense of providing 1000 trained Young Men's Christian Association secretaries and to complete equipment for a social service programme among the 1,000,000 soldiers of our new army, was begun this week in various cities of the country, with California local campaign for $100,000 of the amount to be raised following a conference of State and city secretaries in Fresno today.

Plans will be formulated at the Fresno meeting for a State-wide campaign for money and the amounts to be provided by each city will be apportioned. It is expected that the larger associations of the State—such as those of Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego, Fresno, etc.—will contribute the bulk of the $100,000 allotted to this State.

Individual or local campaigns will begin immediately and continue over a period of ten days or two weeks. An effort will be made to complete the campaign within the next thirty days. All plans on the part of local associations for raising money for local expenses or debts are to be set aside, pending the completion of the emergency war fund.

ATTEMPTED HOLD-UP.

A giant negro, armed with an automatic revolver, attempted to hold up and rob Special Deputy Constable Mendez in an alley on Santa Fe Avenue, yesterday. Officer Mendez drew his revolver and fired several shots at the negro. The man apparently was struck, as blood stains were found upon the ground. He escaped.

Missing Beans.

WHO'LL PAY FOR 'EM?

Suit is on in Local Court Over Frijoles Grows in Mexico and Ordered Shipped Here, but Which Fell into Hands of Carranzistas.

Baldermo A. Almada sold to J. M. Paredes 1500 sacks of beans for $13,000 Mexican money. Mr. Paredes charged that the beans were never delivered and brought suit to recover the money paid for them.

Mr. Almada contended that the beans had been delivered as per contract to an agent of Mr. Paredes. The suit came on for trial before Judge Wellborn yesterday.

Mr. Paredes contended that he had sent the beans to the State of Sonora, including the city of Guanajuato, where he lived, and 68 years old, retired hotel keeper of this city, was found dying yesterday afternoon on the back porch of his home at No. 222 North Avenue #6. Mr. Richards shot himself through the head with a small revolver about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Financial difficulties are said to have been responsible.

For two hours the unfortunate man sat in his chair with the life blood trickling upon the rose. Then George Bomber, a gardener working for Mrs. K. R. Jordan of No. 214 North Avenue #6, saw him, noticed the blood upon the floor and then the revolver in his hand. He notified the East Side Police Station and Officers Tolle and Smith responded to the call.

Investigation disclosed that the broker had first tested his revolver by shooting through the roof of the porch. About ten minutes afterward he fired a bullet through his head. The missile entered to the left and below the right ear, and emerged through the top of the head.

Mr. Richards was rushed to the Receiving Hospital in a police automobile and died at 8 o'clock last night. He had been absent from his home all day, as Mrs. Richards was visiting her son, Lee Meyer, manager of the Town and Country Club. She is prostrated with grief.

While Mr. Richards' garments were being removed at the hospital the long-stemmed rose was found in the lapel of his coat. In the fowler's center was discovered a tiny portion of the man's brain, which had been carried through the skull by the bullet.

That Mr. Richards had contemplated the act for at least two days was indicated by notes which he wrote.

The first note was found in his writing desk at his home. It reads:

"Good-by, old desk. I am leaving you forever."

"16 a.m., April 14, 1917.

[Signed]

"J. R. RICHARDS."

Two other notes written by the dead man were found by Officers Tolle and Smith in the dining-room table. The second was written upon an envelope and addressed to his wife. It follows:

"Dear Mama: I am calling you and Mr. Clegg letters at 1:40 p.m. in Garvanza. It is now 2 p.m. of Wednesday, April 25, 1917. Good-by."

[Signed]

"J. R. RICHARDS."

That the note was unaddressed and was written upon the back of one of his old business cards. It read:

"2 p.m. Wednesday, April 25, 1917. Gone."

[Signed]

"J. R. RICHARDS."

According to Mrs. R. K. Jordan, next-door neighbor to Mr. and Mrs. Richards, a shot was fired about 2:30 o'clock. She says that she heard a second shot about ten minutes afterward.

On the second shot she ran outside to see what had happened. The detective is that Mr. Hartman himself had fired the chloroform and the bottle of the drug, and had attempted suicide. This is supported by the fact that the bottle of chloroform was found near the body.

Mr. Hartman was one of the old-time hotel brokers in the city. He engineered the deal which caused Hartman to commit suicide.

The injured man had been suffering from gall stones and had consulted his physician at Los Angeles regarding his illness.

Crook Havens to Fight Even This.

The first draft of the proposed new ordinance was completed yesterday afternoon by City Attorney Palmer and forwarded to the Public Welfare Committee of the City Council.

The regulations are far from being to the extent of entirely eliminating billboards from the city as voted by the great majority of the public.

The proposed ordinance provides new classifications of billboard business, residential and institutional.

The business district comprises all area from the intersection of Olive and Washington Streets practically to the Los Angeles River, from Second and Figueroa Street to the intersection of Broadway and Pasadena Avenue and then down to the river.

NOT TO BE MADE OF METAL

In this district all billboards must be of metal construction, must not exceed within six feet of any building and must not be more than ten feet in height. At the base must stand about the ground twelve to eighteen inches.

Business districts include all territory within the corporate confines of the city, except those areas which have been laid out in subdivision lots. Boards in such areas are to contain more than twelve square feet. They are to be mounted by at least fifteen feet above the ground so as to provide a dumping place for them as a hiding place for criminals.

From ANY RESIDENCE

No suburban districts no billboards shall be erected within 300 feet of a residence. No blocks in areas having less than 75 feet in diameter, shall be covered during territory and residential restrictions to apply.

The proposed ordinance provides removal of all boards installed on these regulations to comply with the same.

Mr. Palmer has been instrumental in getting the statue violated, and admits a new offense.

Next, Mr. Palmer says, Mrs. Elliman pulled her hair, blackened her arm, bit her wrist and slapped her face. After the conflict Mrs. Painter discovered that she was minus some hair.

And then Mrs. Painter was arrested by Officer Smith and Police Chauffeur Kelly on a charge of disturbing the peace. The arrest didn't help matters.

Mr. Palmer claims he is also a victim of hard luck, inasmuch as his comforters were thoroughly soaked in a wash tub, she says, by Mrs. Painter; that her new maid machine was ruined by her son, broken because the carpet parlor was soaked when Mrs. Painter threw a tub full of water after her. Mrs. Painter denies it.

The women were taken to the Hospital, where they then decided that prosecution could cause each of them undying distress, and so there was no complaint sworn to.

The action was taken following a report from Investigator Albert Chappelle, in which he said he had found certain marks in the books of the Treasurer's office indicating erasures had been made.

It is thought possible that someone was endeavoring to conceal the disappearance of the missing $10,000 bag of gold from the vault.

On the finding of the handwriting expert may rest the possibility of the early return of an indictment. For several days the grand jury has been considering the matter. The police department submitted a long report of its findings to Dist.-Atty. Woolwine, in which a suspected person was mentioned.

The court considered first, the claim that the communications were privileged, and that Mr. Wells had not shown he was a resident of Nevada, a requisite to maintain an action in the Federal Court. Both points were decided against Mr. Wells.

Judge Tripper ruled that, the plaintiff's action in bringing the suit was done to intimidate the Orange County Bar Association, and prevent it from pushing its charges against him.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.
(At Home:) Wall street threw off the torpor of weeks, following which prices rose, leading issues advancing from three to five points. Highest figures were recorded in the last half-hour of trading, during which steel was absorbed in large blocks of shares. Heaviness in internationals made the bond market irregular.

THE WAY TO PEACE.
The Church Federation of Los Angeles
has pledged its prayers and loyal support to President Wilson and the national government "until righteousness is vindicated."
There may come a time—and we believe it will come—when universal peace will be established forever on earth, but lasting peace can never come through weak and criminal submission to tyranny.

MORE INHUMANITY.
The Southern Pacific has 308 crippled employees in its service here, and their wages are steadily advanced along with the wages of those capable physically of doing more work. Isn't it horrible the way these
"soulless corporations" look after the welfare of all faithful employees? What is going to become of the demagogue, if this sort of thing is permitted to continue?

COMMON SENSE.

The gymnasium instructor for girls at the Polytechnic High School in Long Beach is endeavoring to discourage the wearing of corsets, claiming that they are a menace to perfect health. The teacher may not be making herself popular by this movement,
but she is laying the foundation for a stronger and happier womanhood, and time will vindicate her in the bold stand she has taken.

HOW HE SLEEPS.

According to a report a hand of Yaqui Indians "almost" captured Villa while he slept. Villa's "sleeping" reminds us of the negro who worked on a steamboat on the Ohio River. A nervous passenger on the boat was annoyed by the racket and bustle
that accompanied the loading and unloading
of the boat at every landing station
along the big stream. One night as the boat was putting away from a landing the nervous passenger leaned out over the side of the deck and shouted down to one of the stewards, "Say, Sambo, don't you fellows ever go to sleep?" "I don't know, boss," came the despondent reply, "I ain't been working hard but two weeks."

PATRIOTIC KIDS.

Two little girls of Penn Yan, N. Y., broke open their tin savings banks and remitted the contents with the following letter
to President Wilson:

"Dear Mr. President:
My ma told me that we are soon
going to have war and you will need money and men."

"Me and my twin sister, Louise, have one dollar and twenty cents in postal stamps and you can have them."

"My papa is going to war when you need him. God bless you."

[Signed] "VIRGINIA MURRAY."

"P. S.—I am 8 years old."

Enclosed in the letter were two of the regular postal savings bank deposit cards bearing stamp receipts amounting to $1.20.

The little ones gave their all to their country. Rockefellers and Henry Ford and other millionaires kept something back, but the Murray twins gave all.

A PITIFUL CASE.

A local actor's wife recently attempted suicide because, she said, a Greek waiter had spurned her love, was taken to the psychopathic ward at the County Hospital, but was released and allowed to return to her husband. Her new freedom proved dangerous both to herself and to others. She purchased a revolver and, going to the hotel
where the young Greek is employed, threatened to kill herself and the boy, but was arrested before she could carry out her design. The case is one of the many pitiful cases of a similar nature with which society is burdened. Perhaps the woman is not to be blamed for her condition, but for her own good and the safety of the public her plea for full freedom should be ignored. She pleaded not to be taken back to the ward
"where there are real crazy people." However, her speech and actions are certain indications of a sick mentality and it is only fair to her that she be taken to a sanatorium and kept there until, if possible, a permanent cure can be effected.

CONSUMERS PAY.

The secretary of the State Board of Agriculture in Kansas reports that 55 per cent. of the 1917 wheat crop in that State has been abandoned and that the prospects of a crop from the remaining 45 per cent.
of the last fall sowing are but 60.15 per cent. Of the last fall sowing of 8,887,000 acres all but 3,979,000 acres have been abandoned.

The probable crop will be 48,000,000 bushels, 51,000,000 bushels less than last year
and 123,000,000 bushels short of the bumper crop of 1916.

Yet the Kansas farmers are not suffering financially, for, with wheat in Chicago at $2.42, the crop of 45,000,000 bushels this year will bring almost as much, if not more, money than the 100,000,000-bushel crop of last year, when the price of wheat in Chicago ranged from 77¢ to $1.29 1/4.

The wheat producers won't lose anything.
As usual it is the food consumers who must pay.

PATRIOTS ALL.
There's a sort of a get-together feeling in this America of ours that speaks well for the permanency of our democratic ideals. There is no desire to examine a man's eye teeth to find out whether he voted for McKinley in 1896. If he can sing the "Star Spangled Banner" so that he can be heard across the street he is all right.
Even if his voice rips open and fails to pieces on the high notes, he is still a good fellow and a desirable citizen because he meant well anyhow.

The Republicans set a good example
when they heartily and cheerfully conceded that a has-been Democrat could still be a patriot. They even pulled the stinger out of partisan politics when they permitted
the Democrats to reorganize the lower house of Congress without any serious controversy. They realized that Mr. Wilson was President of the whole country and they made no effort to put handcuffs on his wrists for any possible party advantage.
In fact, it was the Republicans who furnished the long end of the votes and enthuisiasm for the President's war policies. They wanted to show that the whole blooming country could present a united and common front in time of stress.

On his part, however, the President has been a trifle remiss in his responsiveness.
His reciprocity is a bit lopsided. Probably he will get around to it as the situation
develops, but thus far the bulk of his regard for the Republicans has been measured by their usefulness. He has called the party leaders into council when he has needed their assistance and they have nobly responded. He has courteously thanked them and they have gone away. That was about all. When a tariff commission was created the intent was that it should be bi-partisan—that all interests should be represented and have a share in the deliberations.
Yet in the makeup of the board the friends of the protective principle—which has been the dominant issue in most national campaigns of the present generation—were conspicuous by their absence.

Cabinet Cabinets have come to England and France as the result of the war. In President Wilson's Cabinet Secretaries Daniels and Baker are doubtless men of wisdom and ability. The purity of their patriotism is unquestioned. Their zeal for the service is doubtless sincere. Yet for some reason not to be here explained neither Secretary holds the full confidence and respect of the American people—or even of his own department. If the President could take a leaf from the book of Old World experience and tender these secretaryships to ex-Presidents Taft and Roosevelt the citizens of the United States would all arise and give three cheers. If a man like Ellioot Root could be attached as counselor of the State Department there would be three cheers more. All three of these eminent statesmen have had experience and service in the departments indicated and their acceptance of renewed responsibility
would not only establish the confidence of America, but inspire fresh enthusiasm with the Allies.

There is warrant for it in the national crisis. Furthermore, it is to be recalled that Presidents Cleveland and Taft did not desire to take Cabinet counsel from representatives of other parties than their own.
Secretary Gresham was a Republican and Secretary MacVeagh a Democrat.

Within the last few days some of the most uncompromising of Democrats have publicly expressed themselves as hoping the President would create a nonpartisan council table. One gubernatorial candidate put it this way: "Those Democrats who gather together and say to themselves:
'This war should help the Democrats and keep the party in power,' and the Republicans who get in a corner and say: 'Let's put Wilson in a hole and then we can elect
the whole ticket next time,' ought to both be taken out and shot. I shall be grieved and surprised if, within the next three months, President Wilson does not invite into his Cabinet two or more representative Republicans like Roosevelt, Taft or Root."

FRIENDLY WILLIAM.

An interesting contribution to diplomatic history and a disclosure of the kind of "friendliness" that Mr. Hohenlohe-mann manifested for the United States in 1898 is given by Mr. Hannis Taylor, who was Minister to Spain during President Cleveland's second administration.

A recent press dispatch from Washington
stated that: "At the outbreak of the Spanish War in 1898 the German Emperor sought to form a coalition of European governments to exert pressure on Spain's behalf against the United States. Mr. Balfour, then in the British Foreign Office, opposed
this and the British government sent a note to the German Emperor pointing out that Great Britain and the great powers allied to Great Britain that these noble Arabs shall not have suffered in vain. It is the hope and desire of the British people and the nations in alliance with them that the Arab race may rise once more to greatness
and renown among the peoples of the earth,
and that it shall bind itself together to this end in unity and concord. It is the hope of the British government that the aspirations of your philosophers and writers shall be realized, and that once again the people of Bagdad shall flourish, enjoying their health and happiness under institutions
which are in consonance with the principles and laws and their racial ideals. Therefore I am commanded to invite you, through your nobles and elders and representatives, to participate in the management of your civil affairs in collaboration with the political representatives of Great Britain who accompany the British army, so that you may be united with your kinsmen in north, east,
south and west in realizing the aspirations
of your race."

Mr. Taylor states that the action of the German government referred to was taken
not in 1898, but in the summer of 1896.
Lord Salisbury was Prime Minister of Great Britain, and Von Hadowitz, a pupil and friend of Bismarck, was German Ambassador.

The Austrian Ambassador, Count Doub-
sky, proposed, in behalf of Austria and Germany, a renewal of the Holy Alliance of 1817, which was killed by the Monroe Doctrine. Lord Salisbury not only refused to assent to this, but notified the German and Austrian Ambassadors that, if the attempt was made, Great Britain would stand with her whole strength by the side of the United States.

One gasoline tractor will tear up and plant ten acres where a team of mules plows
one; it will replace a hundred men with a hundred hoes and shovels. In fact, without gasoline an actual period of famine might not be impossible; with its assistance such a phantom can be relegated to the bogeyman stories in books for children.

WHY WORRY GOD?

In a telegram to the Crown Prince, Emperor William says: "The battle on the Aisne and in Champagne is not yet over;
but all who fight and bleed there shall know that the whole of Germany will remember their deeds and is as one with them to carry through the fight for existence to a victorious end. God grant it." The Kaiser is wrong. In the first place, "the whole of Germany" is not in sympathy with the object of German militarism. In the second place, all the world will see to it that such a purpose is not fulfilled. Thirdly, the end of the war will probably see a Germany
united in democracy under which free citizens will really begin to live instead of existing as subjects of a tyrant. And why should the Kaiser try to implicate God in the bloody affair? Can't the Emperor manage the thing by himself? The Almighty has about one hundred billion worlds to look after and has no time to listen to Kaisers who are looking for special favors.

The loyalty of Americans of German birth includes the duty, however trying, of active resistance against any and every foe of the American republic, including the government of their native country, specifically and unconditionally renounced in the solemn obligation to protect and preserve the government of the United States.

BILL, THE BURGLAR.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

"How are you and Jimmy making it in your efforts to break into the Council?" queried I of my old friend,
Bill the Burglar, as I met him coming from the Old Ladies' Home.

"Well, I don't know," responded the burglar, dubiously. "I'm afraid Jimmy can't help me very much. It looks to me like an inside job, after all, and not much in my line. I'm almost sorry I started—but I had to do something."

"Give 'em plenty of promises,"
said I.

"Oh, I'm doing fairly well in that line," replied the burglar. "I've promised the firemen two days off every week and I'm arranging to have a fund to buy prizes for a pinch-o'-lode at every engine-house.
The policemen are also to have their two days, and there will be a policeman's ball every month. Members of the force will shake the box every quarter for their own assignments.
I've promised the election judges and clerk $10 a day with a diamond-studded badge for each official, and I've agreed that city employees
should be paid off every Saturday
noon and have a holiday until Monday."

"Say!" interrupted I, admiringly,
"you ought to try and break into the Mayor's office. With that kind of platform you would have a bodyguard that ought to keep you there forever. But what are you going to do for the general public?"

"Oh, I'm promising to do away with all special assessments and pave all the streets in the city from the general fund. I'm going to cut out the building ordinance strong enough to put up a firehouse block in the middle of Central Park and arrange so that every taxpayer can have an office-room and desk for one day in the week. With the slogan of 'An office for every citizen' I ought to be able to do some business, what?"

Then I'm going to pave the bed of the Los Angeles River with concrete.
That will make it a fine boulevard
when it is dry, and carry off the flood when it is wet. Then I figure on having about a hundred different commissions to inspect things, and every commissioner is to get his little old five bones per each. With a majority of the voters on the city pay roll that ought to be plenty of gold to keep him busy for the rest of his life."

"It sounds fine," said I, with enthusiasm,
"but how do they do it?"

"How are you going to spend more money and have less taxes?"

"We are going to make it our business," responded the burglar proudly. "I have a friend who pinched one of the steel plated from which the government prints its hundred-dollar bills. He can't put them out himself, but a rich city like Los Angeles should be able to put out its own money and no questions asked."

"Well, you might have to run the plant overtime to save some of your colleagues," retorted I. "But you are certainly lively little old promiser. Can you get away with it?"

"I don't know," responded the burglar, dubiously. "Some of these other
scouts have skinned when it comes to promises. They make me
look like a chunk of salted meat. That's what I am for being an amateur. I ought to have stuck to my regular line of plain and fancy burglary instead of tackling one of these double-decked jobs that have to be tipped
off from the inside."

"Can't you try Charlie Sebastian's stunt and put out a moving picture of yourself?" suggested I. "You could show how you and Jimmy went to night school together; how you got the measles and broke out. Then in a hundred feet of film you could show how you worked far into the night and at last were able to open a bank-vault. In fact, you are a safeman, the inside job."

"I don't know," responded the burglar, dubiously. "Some of these other
scouts have skinned when it comes
to promises. They make me
look like a chunk of salted meat. That's what I am for being an amateur. I ought to have stuck to my regular
